

While telemarketers feel it is their freedom of speech to be able to call people at home to market services and products, all individuals have the right to privacy. Telemarketers have the right to call numbers not on the "no call list". Private citizens have the right to refuse or block those calls. Please do not interfere with our right to privacy. The "no call list" is a great law that protects this right.